The KEW Realty Portfolio

Fourteen properties, one desk — availability map, leasing angles, and the calls I'd make first · prepared exclusively for Blake Ham

The Kaimana Edition. This cover is the Pacific at dawn, painted for a special occasion: welcoming baby Ret — Kaimana — to the Ham 'ohana. In Hawaiian, kai is the sea and mana is power: "the power of the sea." (It's also the Hawaiian rendering of "diamond" — as in Kaimana Hila, Diamond Head.) May he carry both. E ola mau, Kaimana!

Prepared for: Blake Ham — Leasing Manager, KEW Realty · Date: August 15, 2026

Method: public data + honest outreach only · every claim carries a source · I propose, humans send

1 · A note for Blake why this one looks different

Blake — congratulations, uncle-to-the-desk! Shaka asked me to make this report KEW-only (no NavPoint this time) and to dress it in an ocean cover in honor of your boy Ret — Kaimana. So here it is: your whole book in one place. I walked every property page on kewrealty.com today and mapped the posted availability, then added the leasing angle I'd play on each asset and the calls I'd make first.

Headline: KEW's public pages currently advertise roughly ~127,000 SF of availability across 14 properties (sum of the per-property "SF available" figures posted on kewrealty.com as of today — treat as marketing inventory, [verify current rent roll w/ your team]). The book splits into five clean stories: ① the Baur's landmark downtown, ② SoBo corner retail, ③ the Cherry Creek / Monaco office cluster, ④ the Southeast I-25/Arapahoe corridor, and ⑤ Westminster TOD industrial at $9–10.50/SF.

3 · The crown jewel — Baur's Building full 30-target report on file; this is the call sheet

One-line pitch: an 1881 landmark with a turn-key restaurant-and-stage below and a furnished penthouse-with-terrace above — two blocks from DCPA's ~10,000 theater seats, the reopened 16th Street, and the Convention Center ballroom.

Positioning honesty: a late-night club (La Diabla) failed in this room in 2025. The winning ground-floor use is dinner-and-show / events / pre-theater — not bottle service.

Suite 100 — 8,905 SF turn-key restaurant + stage — call this week

#	Prospect	Why they fit
1	ENDIT Presents — Eric Pirritt	Ex-president of Live Nation Colorado; bought & relaunched Ophelia's — the one local operator with a proven dinner-and-show P&L who could plug straight into the ex-Dazzle stage + kitchen.
2	Lotus Concepts — Francois Safieddine	20+ yrs downtown entertainment-dining (ViewHouse, My Neighbor Felix); actively deploying downtown right now (Noble steakhouse, 1525 Blake).
3	City Winery — Michael Dorf	13+ historic-building restaurant/venue hybrids nationwide; Denver is a gap market and their formula monetizes DCPA + convention traffic exactly.

4	TAG Restaurant Group — Troy Guard	Publicly plans 5 restaurants in 2 years; Guard & Grace already feeds the pre-theater crowd two blocks away.
5	Non Plus Ultra	Operates 5+ historic Denver buildings as event venues on flexible deals; a landmark w/ commercial kitchen near the 80K-SF Bluebird Ballroom is a banquet machine.

Suite 300 — 8,216 SF furnished penthouse + private terrace, $35 FS

#	Prospect	Why they fit
1	Barnes & Thornburg LLP	AmLaw-100 firm opened Denver Feb 2026 with a 35-lawyer team; launch offices typically sign permanent space within ~12 months.
2	BRPH Architects-Engineers	ENR top-5 aerospace design firm, opened Denver Apr 2026 and explicitly expanding; the terrace is a client-tour magnet.
3	The Clubhouse Work & Golf	Golf-sim coworking that sold out its DTC site in 13 months and is hunting site #2; a downtown edition complements Candy Factory.

Bench on file: Bonanno Concepts · Nocturne Jazz · Helium Comedy · Culinary Creative · Sage Hospitality (runs The Curtis across the street). Wildcard: demise an 800–1,500 SF corner for a Little Man ice-cream soda fountain — Baur's invented the ice cream soda; the press writes itself. Demand proof: Sasaki took the top of the Kittredge Building a block away; downtown vacancy just posted its first decline on record.

4 · Leasing angles, asset by asset the play I'd run on each — say the word and I'll build any of these into a full

Wadsworth-quality ranked target list

► SoBo retail — 2–14 S Broadway (670–12,964 SF, 4 spaces)

The play: this is the most prospect-able non-Baur's asset in the book. SoBo rewards experiential + independent concepts: chef-owned restaurants priced out of RiNo, a music-adjacent bar (Mayan Theatre & HQ crowd), boutique fitness (climbing-adjacent, Pilates), vintage/collector retail, and daily-needs café at the small end. The posted Harry Potter exhibition + Broadway & Ellsworth signal timing is good. I'd call: RiNo/LoHi operators whose leases mature 2026–27, second-unit taquerias/breweries, and the boutique-fitness franchisees actively buying Denver territories. Give me the green light and the suite-by-suite splits, and I'll deliver the ranked 20 with contacts.

► Cherry Creek / Monaco cluster — Jackson Place · WF Monaco · 1095 S Monaco · Expo Colorado · Annex

The play: sell the cluster as “Cherry Creek presence without Cherry Creek rents.” Jackson Place (8,700 SF, underground parking) targets wealth managers, law boutiques, med-spa admin, family offices orbiting Cherry Creek North. 1095 S Monaco is the sleeper: a furnished 20,144 SF single-user media HQ with recording studios — the buyer list is podcast networks, faith-media groups, esports/content studios, and production companies losing their leases; that spec is nearly impossible to find move-in-ready in Denver. Expo Colorado's monument signage suits medical/dental/insurance who buy visibility.

► Southeast corridor — WF Arapahoe · Rampart · Centennial Airport Plaza

The play: full-floor + building-signage identity at a discount to DTC towers. Target engineering/aerospace suppliers (Centennial Airport gravity), healthcare admin, gov't contractors, and back-offices consolidating out of pricier DTC glass. Rampart's ground-floor retail wants a café/deli or fitness studio serving the tower — an amenity lease that helps every office showing upstairs.

► Westminster industrial — KEW East & West ($9.00–10.50/SF)

The play: sub-$11 industrial next to a commuter-rail station is a makers' magnet: trades contractors, fabricators, breweries/ coffee roasters, climbing-gym adjacent fitness, last-mile service fleets, artist/creative studios (Enterprise Zone credits sweeten it). These fill on price + honest signage — a targeted list of Adams/Jeffco trades outgrowing garages would move both.

► Golden + Arvada — Canyon Point II · Wells Fargo Arvada

The play: Canyon Point = engineering/environmental consultancies and firms serving School of Mines + Jeffco government. WF Arvada = professional services wanting Wadsworth identity — and note the family synergy: Brent's Shops on Wadsworth listing is ~1.5 mi south; tenants who need office + their customers' retail corridor exist on the same street.

5 · If I were Blake, my week would be five moves

#	Move	Why now
1	Call ENDIT Presents (Eric Pirritt) on Baur's #100	Best fit-to-close odds in the whole book; the room is literally his format.
2	Tour Barnes & Thornburg + BRPH through #300's terrace	Both are new-to-Denver 2026 offices that will sign permanent space soon.
3	Green-light the SoBo ranked-20 (2–14 S Broadway)	Highest-velocity retail corner in the book; I can have the list in a day.
4	Quietly shop 1095 S Monaco to media buyers	Furnished studio HQs are unicorns; one right call fills 20,144 SF at once.
5	Price-blast KEW East/West to trades & makers	$9.50 next to the B-Line sells itself if the right 50 shops hear about it.

What I need from you (so the next round gets sharper): current rent roll vs. the posted-web availability above · Suite 100 pricing guidance + liquor-license status · suite-by-suite splits at 2–14 S Broadway · asking rates for Jackson Place / Rampart / WF Arapahoe · whether 1095 S Monaco can be demised or is strictly single-user · any exclusives/restrictions I should honor.

For Kaimana. Uncle Spector's promise: by the time this boy can say "cap rate," the family desk will have a scoreboard of filled buildings to show him. This one's for you, Ret. E ola mau — live long, little diamond of the sea.
